

International Conference on Smart Infrastructure and Construction

ICSIC 2019 sponsorship & exhibition opportunities

8 - 10 JULY 2019, CHURCHILL COLLEGE, CAMBRIDGE

The International Conference on Smart Infrastructure and Construction (ICSIC) brings together world-leading academics, practitioners and policy makers from the fields of infrastructure planning, asset management, sensing and data analysis.

As the digital infrastructure agenda attracts increasing interest both nationally and internationally, ICSIC 2019 provides a timely and dynamic platform for discussion and debate.

Attendees will include researchers and academics working in the fields of geotechnical and structural engineering, structural health monitoring, asset management and city scale infrastructure planning the use of smarter data in cities. The conference will also be of interest to decision makers and analysts from industry and government responsible for: design, construction and operation of infrastructure assets; asset management and specification and procurement of major infrastructure assets.

Exhibition and sponsorship

There are a number of packages for sponsorship and exhibiting at the three-day conference which is expected to attract more than 150 delegates. The conference provides opportunities to:

- access new developments in research and build collaborations
- showcase new products and services and the technologies underpinning them
- raise the profile of your company to academic and industry audiences
- network in a high-level community.

There are networking opportunities to build strong links with the ever-growing smart infrastructure community throughout the event, including the formal conference dinner, evening drinks reception, the conference lunch and a beer-tasting poster and pints session. A range of packages is available, but we can also offer bespoke sponsorship to meet your specific requirements. Other rates are available for public bodies.
